Serving Lemon Grove and nearby communities

Thursday, April 12, 1990 25¢

Annual costume contest wide open this year

Bustles and bonnets, waistcoats and string ties will all be in fashion again for the Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce Old Time Days costume contest May 11 and 12 during regular business hours.

Merchants and employees are invited to dress up and decorate their businesses in celebration of the community's past. To participate call the Chamber office at 469-9621.

Participants are judged on originality, presentation and participation by "roving" judges who will stop by early in the day. Scoring and plaque presentation (for 1st, 2nd and 3rd place winners) will take place before the end of the business day. The Chamber of Commerce encourages all Lemon Grove businesses to join in the revelry.

Bernadine's Hair World, 7918 Broadway, has taken first-place in the contest for four consecutive years. The salon won last year by transforming the shop into "Bernitraz Prison," with Bernadine Southard acting as warden and her staff as the lowdown, desperado prisoners.

This year, however, Southard has decided to give some other business a chance at first place. She said she has won for the past four years and would like to take a year off to get some new blood in the contest.

Southard is also planning to re-do her shop during that time, making an old-style transformation difficult.

Resident fights litter with litter

Austin Felden says he doesn't like to get involved in "causes" and he's not trying to bring attention to himself, but there's something that's got him so irritated, he decided to do something about it.

What has the retired resident of Lemon Grove up in arms? Unwanted literature in his yard, specifically, the "Californian Express Line," which is distributed free in Lemon Grove and other East County communities to people who do not subscribe to the Californian.

"I hate to see what I call litter all over town," says Felden, who takes long walks around his neighborhood every day. "I counted 46 papers on Central between Main and Massachusetts just this morning," he says incredulously. "It seems like such a waste. We've got enough garbage in the dumps as it is."

Felden went before the Lemon Grove City Council to ask what could be done to stop the "littering" and was told that there was nothing the City could do. He had asked the Californian repeatedly, by mail and phone, to stop leaving the papers in his yard, but they still kept coming. Felden told the Postmaster about his problem and discovered that he also had requested the papers not be delivered to his home as well, but he was ignored too.

Finally, Felden took matters into his own hands. He went around his neighborhood collecting papers on public property and took them to the offices of the Californian and began scattering them around the property. This time, he got their attention. After a brief conversation in which the staff of the Californian was very polite, says Felden, he was assured that the "Express Line" would no longer be delivered to his home and that the Californian would send out a truck to pick up papers on public property in Felden's neighborhood.

Felden's taking a "wait and see" attitude toward the whole matter now, and is thinking about what sort of measures could be taken to limit the amount of litter throughout the community. "If they are going to throw 'freebies,' there could, and should, be an ordinance that, after a certain amount of time, they have to come back and pick up the papers that weren't picked up by the homeowners," says Felden. "Litter like this is not helping housing pricing or the community of Lemon Grove."

PDP helps kids reach maximum potential

Many children with learning problems slip off the academic ladder at an early age. Of the lucky ones who hold on, a percentage of them flounder through 12 years of frustration only to end up short of their potential.

The Lemon Grove School District has taken a step to resolve that dilemma. It has implemented a program aimed at identifying children with potential learning problems, prior to their entering school.

The Preschool Development Program or PDP is for children between 3 and 5, who are diagnosed with mild to moderate delays in development. Both the preschooler and his or her family will receive the special education services provided by PDP.

PDP originally began a little more than a year ago, but on a much smaller scale. In the past six months however, the program has mushroomed. That is when Cynthia "Cindy" Ehrlich, speech pathologist, and Carol Stevens, resources specialist, were hired by Lemon Grove School District to coordinate the specialized program.

Cindy works full-time with PDP. Carol has worked with the school district for 14 years, currently she divides her time between PDP and her regular duties as resource specialist.

The program is now functioning at full capacity - serving the special needs of more than 40 preschool children.

"Originally, the program provided speech and language therapy only on a one-to-one basis," said Cindy. "We've now expanded to provide options to meet the child's and family's unique needs."

"Program options are determined on a case-by-case basis

Mt. Miguel El Trovador News Briefs

Mt. Miguel Honors Bio/Chemistry students won several awards at the San Diego Science and Engineering Fair in Balboa Park this past weekend. A first place went to Leilani Anglo and Chrissy Howerton, Grace Agnus, Phil Quici and John Redman took second place. Third place awards went to Norma Alonzo and Mike Kohler.

Students interested in playing football in the fall at Mt. Miguel are asked to attend an informational meeting in the gymnasium on Tuesday, April 17th at 2:20 p.m.

"Grease Lightning" Mt. Miguel's winning Air Band featuring Phil Quici, Steve Godwin, Nelson Bayla, Mike Kohler, Jeff Even, Ricky Ramirez and Keith Baldwin captured third place at the Districtwide finals held at Grossmont High School April 5th. They will now participate in the Pepsi Challenge to be held in May at the Del Mar Fair Grounds.

El Trovador, the school newspaper, is accepting applications for staff for the 1990-1991 school year. Students may pick up the form in room 231 and return them as soon as possible. Interviews will begin after Spring Break.

The Grossmont Union High School District is planning to purchase a block of tickets for the Leningrad State Ballet to be held Saturday, May 12 at 8 p.m. in the San Diego Civic Theater. The performance, the first U.S.A. appearance for the company, is designed as a fundraiser at $30 per seat, for future exchange programs with the Soviet Union.

The Mt. Miguel track team is still a strong participant in running, jumping, throwing and vaulting despite their loss to Monte Vista, boys 80 to 56 and girls 86-35, on April 5th. In addition to the strong showings reported last week of Damian Coleman (46'7" for triple jump) and Katina Harrison (34'3"), Debbie Earman had a 37'8-3/4" in the shot put and 126'4" in the discus.

The Mt. Miguel Baseball team defeated the West Hills Wolfpack 8-4 April 2nd. Bryan Smith and Matt Berry both had a pair of hits. Jim Hoffman started off a 5-run rally with a base hit past second base. Jason Ficken came up to bat with two outs and hit the ball past third base scoring Jake Glaze for the game-winning RBI (runs batted in).

El Trovador's newspaper staff and cubs, along with their advisor, Mrs. Patricia Curtis, will be touring the Channel 10 television station Wednesday, April 18th on a field trip designed to expose potential journalists to the broadcasting scene.

Petitions will be available starting Monday, April 16th at the finance office for students wishing to run for ASB commissioners or officers.

The Bilingual Education Committee is hosting the Eighth Annual Scholarship Dinner April 26 from 6 to 8 p.m. in the Mt. Miguel cafeteria. Delicious homemade enchiladas will be served. Tickets can be purchased from Jim Koch, Martha Foncerrada, or Julie Duenes.

Mt. Miguel's staff members are hearing wedding bells with Mr. Dan Howard, the Bio/Chemistry teacher, who wed Jolynne Nguyen on Saturday, April 7th. Miss Eileen Mandell, the Photography teacher, married Dan Taryana on Sunday, April 8th.

Lemon Grove Arts Complex announces Spring Schedule

An eight week foundation art course featuring cartooning, painting, perspective drawing and print making taught by Janet Fenwick begins April 18. Fenwick received her BA degree in art from Birmingham, England. As a local mural artist, her work can be seen at the Loma Theater, Croce's Restaurant, the Horton Grand Hotel, the Golden Lion and Sea World.

She will introduce a broad range of art expression to students, ages seven and up. A gallery showing, hosted by the Lemon Grove Arts Complex, will take place at the end of the course.

The course will take place Wednesday evenings from 6:15 to 7:30 and pre-registration is advised. Registration will remain open through the 3rd week of each session and the fee is $40 per each eight week session, with a $5 materials fee per session.

Registration for beginning Tap classes begins April 19. The classes will be held Thursday evenings from 6:00 to 7:00 and are for ages 10 to adult.

Anyone interested in Jazz or Ballet classes may join in at anytime. Jazz classes will be held Tuesday evenings from 6:00 to 7:00 and Thursday evenings from 5:00 to 6:00 for ages 11 to adult. There is a full schedule of Ballet classes for adults and children in both the morning and evening. Call 469-7020 for more information on Ballet and all other classes.

Local Cub Scouts hold annual derby

by Carol McCarthy

March 24th was filled with excitement as racers gathered at St. Luke's Lutheran Church Family Center in La Mesa to watch their cars run in the annual Pinewood Derby race for Cub Scout Pack 399 of Lemon Grove. The track was in place, the audience stirring with anticipation, and the racers milling about waiting for the heats to be run.

A Pinewood Derby race car is made from a kit designed especially for this purpose. The 7 inch long wooden block is shaped, wheels installed, sanding done and the paint job up to the individual designer. The critical things that produce a winner are weights to bring it up to the maximum allowed, honing the wheels for smoothness, following the specifications and rules, and pure luck, if you ask some. If the car doesn't win for speed, boys still have a chance to win in 10-12 static (appearance) categories for a trophy. Everyone goes home with a participation certificate and pinewood derby patch, regardless!

When the judges handed in the results, the boys were excited! A total of 66 cars ran in the heats

(including Open Class), and three grand finale winners were fastest overall. Taking the Gold Medal for First Place in the Pack: Chris Venable of Golden Avenue Elementary School. Winning the Silver Medal for Second Place Overall: Stuart Shea of Monterey Heights Elementary. Third Place winning the Bronze Medal: Jack Doherty of Mount Vernon Elementary. For the three divisions running, the boys winning first, second, third or fourth in any division also took home a trophy with their car affixed on top. An Open Class category also allows adults and siblings to participate.

Congratulations to everyone who participated in the races, and a special Thanks to all who helped it run so smoothly, in so many ways. The terrific trophies for the event were made and donated by Bruce Helsing ...Thanks!

Cub Scout Pack 399, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Lemon Grove, is an active Pack of approximately 75 boys in Lemon Grove. For more information call Cubmaster Carol McCarthy at 466-5632 or Committee Chairman Margie Cameron at 698-8777.

Golden Avenue School news briefs

Kindergarten Round-up is a day set aside to enroll all incoming kindergartners for next year. Kindergartners for the 90-91 school year must be five years of age on or before December 2, 1990. Kindergarten Round-up is scheduled for April 26th, 9:00-11:00 a.m. and 1:00-3:00 p.m.

Parents enrolling new kindergartners should bring: 1) a birth certificate; 2) an immunization record; and 3) two verifications of residence. If you have friends or neighbors with kindergarten-age youngsters, please pass this information on to them.

Two of Golden Avenue's students have had their art work accepted to the young Art '90 display. This exhibit of student art from all over San Diego is currently at the San Diego Museum of Art in Balboa Park through April 22, 1990. If you have a chance to visit, look for Lee Robinson and Natalie Villalobos' work.

New legislation strikes at hate groups

Hate: To feel enmity or bitter aversion for; dislike intensely.

Lost in the daily profusion of the galvanic news headlines of recent weeks was a congressional act that is welcome, but long overdue. A week ago congress gave final approval to legislation that would, for the first time, require the U.S. Justice Department to compile and report statistics on "hate crimes" throughout the nation. Specifically defined, this would include "Criminal acts, including murder, assault, robbery and burglary that stem from bias based upon race, religion, sexual orientation or ethnicity." Up to now, such "hate crime" designations have not been included in the Justice Departments annual Uniform Crime Reports. If a murder or vandalism had a "hate" base, it would be statistically recorded as to its category only.

This is a start in the right direction, but only a start. The battle against hate itself is never won. The new found freedoms in Russia and Eastern Europe, viewed only weeks ago with joy and hope are now seen to be translating into violent ethnic confrontations, resurrecting all of the tribal hatreds that have obviously simmered for fifty years and more. Even within we "good people" hatreds lie just below the surface... hatreds towards blacks, Jews, gays or anyone else whom we have been taught to hate.

Hatred is us... and it probably will never really disappear. But we must at least protect each other from the crimes generated by these hatreds. We cannot be stopped from hating each other by any laws, but we most certainly can try to prevent assaults, vandalisms and murders based on ethnic, religious or homophobic hatreds. If we cannot control at least most of these crimes, we have no hope of survival.

The current congressional action is a start. It is only a small start but at least we can now begin to understand the scope of "hate crimes" in our nation. Perhaps from this understanding will come, eventually, legislation that will reverse what is now a growing trend.

Hate continues to fester and grow, but a small weapon has now been given to the people of this nation that helps them begin to fight back.

Sports Commentary

by John E. Wirges

You can't throw this ump out

The cry has sounded throughout the land, "Play Ball." It's a command warmly received and long awaited.

One wonders how long it will be before the call is sounded by umpire Pam Postema. She was fired over the winter by baseball bigwigs who apparently just do not want women in baseball.

Players and their labor association are free of any blame for the late start. They suffered, same as you, from a labor lockout dreamed up by the collective ownership of the game.

It was a power play by owners who attempted to turn the clock back to the 1920's and return players to a servitude level that was outlawed by the Emancipation Proclamation.

Pam Postema is another matter, but her case reflects the continuing disregard of American labor laws and the protection and guarantees of the U.S. Constitution by a baseball hierarchy that loves to rule with a heavy hand.

Postema is an umpire, a good one from all reports. Players coming out of the minor leagues, where Postema has been laboring the last 13 years, give her high grades on the bases and great marks for her knowledge of the strike zone.

Pam was an active sort growing up. She played all the ladylike sports and looked around the world of sports for a likely career. As it turned out, umpiring was it.

When she was 23 she entered the Al Somers School of Umpiring down in Florida. That was back in 1977. She has been a professional umpire ever since.

She started in the lowest of the minor leagues, where driving some 600 miles across the California and Nevada deserts, or up and down the length of Florida, to get from one series of games to another was common practice.

But Postema is a "gamer" and after five years in the lower minors, Pam was moved up to AAA ball. She has called major league spring training games since 1986 and even worked the Hall of Fame game at Cooperstown. Managers at all levels supported her work.

She began getting serious consideration for a major league job during spring training in 1988. And for the past two years, Pam has been a crew chief. You don't get that far by accident.

Postema has paid her dues. She earned her way up the ladder as a solid working umpire. No fuss and feathers for her. She wasn't on a crusade. She wasn't knocking on the door after 13 years of dedicated effort because she was a woman.

She was asking for recognition from the baseball world. She had learned her craft. Like all major league umpires before her, she followed a learning process that stretched for years in the dust and dirt of the minor leagues. In her case, 13 long years.

As a reward for her dedication and sacrifice, baseball bigwigs refused her further assignments and, in effect, fired her.

Philip E. del Campo, Ph.D., a human resources specialist and a long time Padres baseball fan, said, "Baseball's dismissal of Pam Postema is an affront to all those who love this game. If she had been a man, she would have been in the major leagues years ago. Her dismissal is a judgment right out of the 1920's."

Pam filed a Federal Sex Discrimination suit in Los Angeles last week. She can't lose. Federal law and common sense are on her side. Baseball owners really do work hard at being stupid.

From Where I Sit

by Frank Andrews

A fast fifty

"You are cordially invited to the Wayzata High School Class of 1940 Reunion on June 23, 1990." That was the letter I received in the mail a few days ago. Wayzata High School is located on the beautiful shores of Lake Minnetonka in the tiny town of Wayzata, Minnesota.

The chairperson of the reunion committee requested my prompt confirmation that my wife and I would be in attendance this summer along with my check for $50 per person for dinner and dance. Wow! $100 just to try and recognize my near 70 year old classmates. That doesn't include airfare, motel and all the other travel expenses.

The 1940 graduating class consisted of only 60 "Hot to Trot" kids destined to conquer the world. The United States entered World War II the following year so we really did have an opportunity to "conquer the world." Some members of the 1940 Class must have made it big as indicated by the high priced reunion tickets.

I attended high school with the "Rich and Fabulous," as that area of Lake Minnetonka was home to the very rich. I was bused in from the "Poor and Pitiful" area, some 12 miles away, so I was able to rub elbows with the cream. Pillsbury, Cargill, and Honeywell are but a few of the ritzy families that I can still remember.

I had attended Beaderwood #91 Elementary, a one room red-brick school house at Stubbs Bay, Lake Minnetonka, where "skinny dipping" in the carp infested, muddy waters was as affluent as we ever got.

My folks were so proud of their son upon graduating "Cum Lousy" in the "Class of 36." I was not only Valedictorian of my class but also Salutatorian (Of course I was the only one in the class that year).

My wife and I attended the 20 year High School Class Reunion in 1960 and I couldn't recognize any of my classmates then. The committee gave out several awards at the dinner: The member that had been married the longest, the most kids, the one that had come the farthest and the one that had reached the highest college degree. I won for being the fattest class member and received a 5 pound box of chocolates as the prize.

A lot of water has run too swiftly under the bridge since. It's hard to believe that it has been 50 big ones since I cut out of the pack to make my mark. I would really like to attend the 1940 Class Reunion just to see how many are still upright and compare our ailments. Maybe I haven't achieved the highest in social stature but I have reached the highest by my own personal standards - my lovely wife and family, my faithful friends, my good neighbors and a trust in God that gets me through each day.

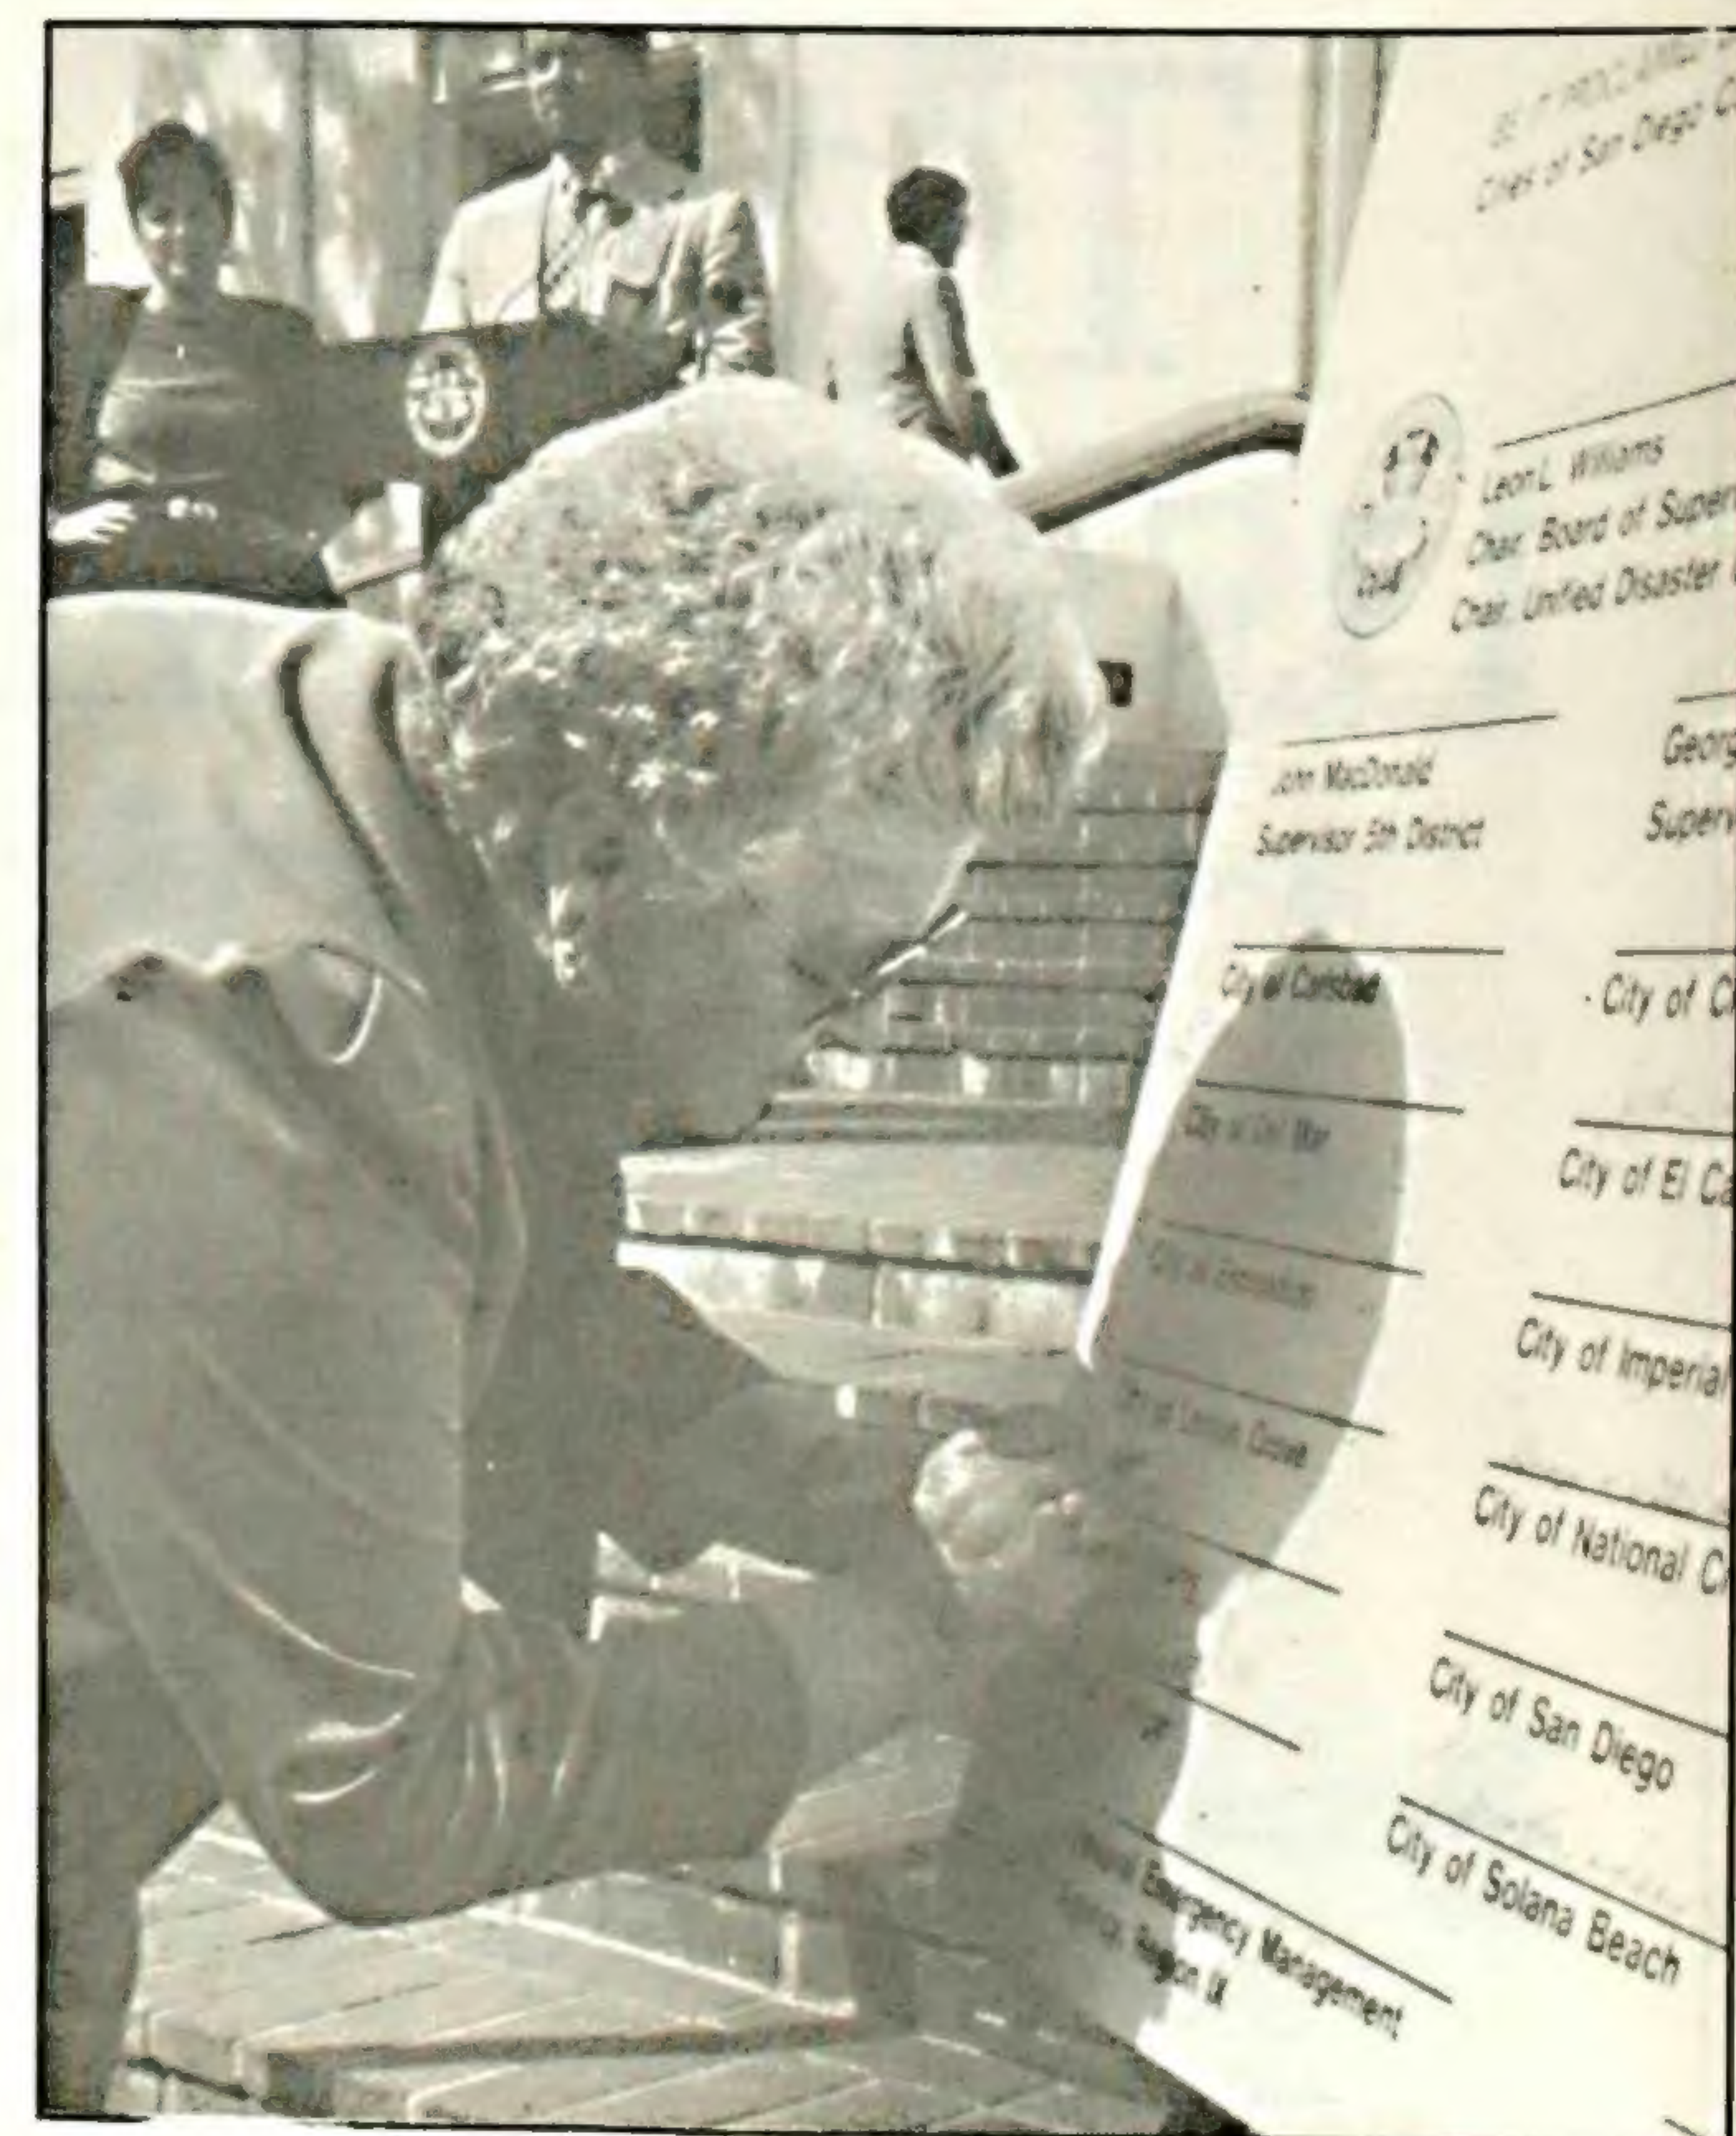

Letters

Dear Editor,

While eating lunch at a local fast food establishment last week I happened to overhear two Sheriff's deputies comment that "Jim Roache is just too honest to be elected Sheriff." I don't know about the rest of the voters, but I think this county could stand that kind of a Sheriff for a change!

That comment alone will gain Jim Roache my vote.

Sincerely, Jerry Bundren

Lemon Grove City Councilwoman Lois Heiserman, signs a giant (5-foot) proclamation outside the County Administration Center declaring April as Earthquake Preparedness Month. Heiserman was joined by County Supervisors and representatives of all 18 cities in San Diego County in reminding citizens of the need to prepare for "the big one."

Beat the Quake!

The October 17, 1989 Loma Prieta earthquake, better recognized as the "San Francisco" quake and the more recent Upland area tremor, are reminders that damaging earthquakes are a part of our past, present and future. Therefore, continued earthquake preparedness should be a way of life for all Californians.

During the month of April, several events are scheduled throughout San Diego with information on the earthquake threat and safety procedures.

Your Fire Department wishes to extend a month long invitation to stop by the the station should you desire information and assistance on how you can "Beat the Quake". For more information contact Assistant Fire Marshall Dale Chamberlain at 469-4115.

This year the entire month of April 1990 is designated Earthquake Preparedness Month. The Lemon Grove Fire Department along with the Offices of Emergency Service wish to invite all residents of Lemon Grove to join in the campaign to recognize the need and to help promote the Earthquake preparedness message statewide.

Junior Theatre to present "The Sound of Music"

San Diego Junior Theatre presents a spring production of one of Broadway's most heartwarming musicals, The Sound of Music, April 20 through May 6 in the Casa del Prado Theatre in Balboa Park.

One of Rodgers and Hammerstein's greatest collaborations, The Sound of Music is a magnificent musical for the whole family.

The score brims with familiar melodies including "Climb Every Mountain," "Do, Re, Me" and "Edelweiss" that will bring back memories or create new ones for San Diego's families.

A San Diego Junior Theatre Play Guide focusing on the original production of The Sound of Music and the history of its famous composer and lyricist will be available to all parents and teachers as an educational supplement to the performance.

Directed by San Diego vocal team Julie Greathouse and Lorea Herald, The Sound of Music will feature a cast and technical crew of over 50 youth ages 8 to 18 from all over San Diego.

Lauren Heiser of La Mesa (far right) plays the role of Brigittia in the Junior Theatre production of "The Sound of Music."

Performances are Fridays April 20, 27 and May 4 at 7 p.m., Saturdays April 21, 28 and May 5 at 2 p.m. and Sundays April 22, 29 and May 6 at 2 p.m. Two special school day performances for groups are scheduled for Tuesday May 1 at 9:30 and 12:30.

Tickets are $4, $5 and $6 and are available by phone from the Junior Theatre Box Office Tuesday through Friday, 12:30 - 4:30 and one and a half hours before each performance. Call the Box Office at 239-8355. Tickets are also available through Teleseat (283-Seat) and Times Arts/Tex. discounts are available to seniors and groups of 15 or more.

Museum of Art to celebrate Earth Day with recycled art activities for the whole family

On Sunday, April 22, from 11:00 a.m. until 2:00 p.m., the San Diego Museum of Art will be celebrating Earth Day with a series of events for the whole family. Using recycled materials, six local artists will direct hands-on art activities and demonstrations on the museum steps. Participants will learn about pottery, mobiles, collages, stencils, painting and more. This celebration coincides with the close of the Young Art '90 exhibition, which features the work of students in grades K through 12 from San Diego City and County Schools. Admission is free to the Earth Day activities; the public information number for this event is 232-7931 x181.

Featured artists are:

Ginny Myers, 3-D, mobiles or stabiles constructed from found objects.

Nina Karavasilis, 2-D collage from torn newspaper and magazines.

Joseph Baruday, Japanese printing technique transferring a 3-D image to a 2-D surface.

John Raggio, Handbuilt and thrown clay construction techniques.

Rich and Linda Columbo, Paintings using recycled objects as stencils.

Eddie Edwards, Traditional painting application onto recycled surfaces.

For further information or images, please phone (619) 232-7931 x170.

Opera Ensemble auditions set

The Education Department of San Diego Opera announces auditions for the 1990 season of San Diego Opera Ensemble. Auditions will take place in the Great Hall of St. Paul's Cathedral, 2728 6th Avenue in San Diego, on Friday, April 27, and Saturday, April 28, from 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

The anticipated period of employment for Ensemble artists will be: September 24 through October 7, 1990 (rehearsal period); and October 8 through December 8, 1990 (performances). The main thrust of performing dates will be in city and county schools, with additional performances for community groups, senior centers, and opera guilds.

For an audition application and further information, please call San Diego Opera, 232-7636.

and include individual or small-group therapy. Instruction is provided at the PDP's center (San Altos School) or at the child's regular non-sectarian preschool."

Besides Cindy's and Carol's commitment to the program, its success can also be attributed to a team effort. Additional team members consist of an adaptive physical education teacher and a cadre of consultants including a psychologist, a social worker and a school nurse.

Once a potential candidate is referred to PDP, usually by a parent, the child may be evaluated by one or all members of the preschool assessment team. They test for delays in six developmental areas: receptive and expressive language; articulation, cognitive and preacademic skills; and gross and fine motor skills.

"In assessing young children," Cindy said, "we'll observe them at play, interview the parents and use tests designed for the preschooler."

"For example, in testing their understanding of language, I won't ask children to talk. Rather, I'll have them follow directions, identify pictures, etc. I want to see if they understand words such as over, under, behind, washing, playing, hot, cold, etc."

"While assessing their expressive language or their speech, I'll listen to the sounds they use to their words, the sentences they use and the way they use speech to communicate."

On the other hand, when Carol, the resource specialist, checks for preacademic skills, she sees if the child knows colors and can identify body parts. "I also test how well a child can match objects, count and copy shapes," she said. "Additionally, it is important to see how the preschooler holds and uses a pencil, crayon and scissors."

According to Cindy, they are interested in the overall child and how he or she seems to compare to other typical 3, 4 or 5-year-olds.

She also emphasized that PDP is not designed for all preschool aged children. Those who do not qualify are children with problems resulting from maturational, cultural or economic factors, as well as those who are unfamiliar with the English language. There are other programs geared to assist those children.

When an eligible child is found to have a difficulty in one or more of the developmental areas, he or she is enrolled in PDP. Then an individualized plan is developed with the family. It is also determined at that time if therapy will be provided in small groups (two to six children) or on a one-to-one basis.

The family, too, plays an important role in the therapy process. One key obligation will be to observe the child's activities outside of therapy and share this information with the PDP team. Another important task will be learning to effectively respond to the preschooler's communication difficulties.

A speech, language or learning problem can evolve in many ways including from incidents at birth, problems with the brain and nervous system, genetic inheritance, middle ear infections and hearing loss--or for no identifiable reason.

Speech and language delays are at times early signs of potential developmental problems according to Cindy. Although it takes a professional to accurately identify them, here are some flags (by age groups) a parent should note:

Three years old: Speaks only one or two words at a time, cannot answer "What" or "Who" questions, does not seem to hear or understand all that is said, seems to "tune out" what others say, does not understand spoken directions without visual assistance from pointing and other gestures, repeats what others say rather than responding.

Four-years old: Speaks in two or three-word phrases, cannot answer simple "what," "where," or "why" questions, sentences or words are jumbled and disordered--difficult to understand, does not talk to peers or adults unless prodded, then talks as little as possible; cannot listen to more than a couple lines of a story and answer simple questions about what was read.

Five years old: Speaks in only three or four-word sentences about present events, cannot answer questions about "yesterday" or "tomorrow," cannot answer "how" questions, talks a great deal but remarks may not be relevant to the situation, has trouble sitting and listening to story of more than four or five sentences without "tuning out."

Although a child may display some of the above symptoms he or she may still not have a problem. If there are questions, Cindy or Carol, and their team, are available to Lemon Grove residents. To get an appointment for a screening, a concerned parent can call the Lemon Grove Preschool Development Program at 589-5705.

As with any condition, early detection and intervention provides the best chance for success in the correction process. Early intervention has proven to either lessen or alleviate the impact of the delay, while preventing secondary problems, reducing family stress and the possibility of special education at school age. Experience has also proven that intervention opportunities have the strongest effect when the family is actively involved in the program.

While all learning problems are not reversible, there are those which can be helped with the proper assistance. One thing's for sure, the majority of preschoolers with minor to moderate learning disabilities can benefit from the Lemon Grove School District's Preschool Development Program.

Wherever the child is destined to be on the academic ladder, early intervention by PDP will help the child have a better chance to reach his or her potential.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF: BRUCE H. KNEPP CASE NO. 151618

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of: BRUCE H. KNEPP

A PETITION has been filed by BILLIE E. HYDE in the Superior Court of California, County of SAN DIEGO.

THE PETITION requests that BILLIE E. HYDE be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests the decedent's WILL and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on April 23, 1990 at 1:45 P.M. in Dept. F-5 located at Family Court Building, 1501-55 Sixth Ave., P.O. Box 128, San Diego, CA 92112-4104.

IF YOU OBJECT TO the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in section 9100 of the California Probate Code. The time for filing claims will not expire before four months from the hearing date noticed above.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a formal Request for Special Notice of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in section 1250 of the California Probate Code. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

Spring Valley seniors reunite with Valley-Grove

by Tim Boice

The Spring Valley Meals program and Valley Grove Nutrition Project have reunited.

The Spring Valley/Lemon Grove Nutrition Board has bid on two contracts to provide meals for seniors at the Spring Valley Community Center and Bancroft Baptist Church. The funds come from the Area Agency on Aging (AAA), and are distributed throughout the county, based on the average daily attendance and demographics. The new contract goes into effect July 1, 1990.

Board president, Ed Pettis and Spring Valley program chairman Bill Rasmussen met to work out the reconciliation. Pettis said, "I told them, 'I cannot promise you autonomy, but I can promise you cooperation.'"

Rasmussen added a list of stipulations for an agreement to be reached, "We want to be treated more fairly than previously. We were kind of like step-children down here. We would also like an equal number of people on the Valley-Grove Nutrition Board."

After some initial hesitation, most Spring Valley seniors are for the new agreement. "They were a little upset at first, but people have talked enough about it and we have to give them a shot at it. "They depend on us as much as we depend on them," said Rasmussen.

Lemon Grove Lutheran Church has announced its Holy Week and Easter schedule of services.

Worshippers on Maundy Thursday will have two services to choose from to fit their schedules: 1 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Both will offer Holy Communion and a sermon titled "Seriously Now--Your Bridge Now," with Pastor E.J. Volkmann preaching.

On Good Friday one service is planned at 7:30 p.m. Traditionally, this is referred to as the Service of Tenebrae. Short messages based on Christ's last hours are presented by the pastor. Special music emphasizes Christ's sacrifices. As each message is concluded, the lights are dimmed, until finally the church is deeply shadowed. A black mantle is draped over the cross-arms of a large, bare cross. Vestments and paraments are also black. At that point the church is plunged into total darkness and worshippers exit in complete quietness.

The sunrise service at 6:30 on Easter morning features vestments, paraments, and flowers, all a dazzling white. Easter lilies cover the large cross which worshippers had last seen on Good Friday draped in black. One visitor remarked last year, "When the pastor proclaimed the words, 'He is Risen!', my heart leaped into my throat, and my eyes filled with tears. The organ music, the choir, and the Brass choir were overwhelming. For a short period of time I felt I was in a time warp in another country. The triumph, for me, was complete and ecstatic." The youth and the choirs will assist during the service. Rev. Volkmann's message will be "Cornerstone or Tombstone?"

The Easter Festival Service Worshippers at 9 a.m. will hear the message "I Feel the Tug" by Rev. Volkmann, and the organ, Chancel Choir and the Brass Choir will assist.

"We want to welcome anyone without a church home to feel welcome to join us in worship during these special, meaningful services," said Rev. Volkmann. "Share the sorrow of Good Friday with us and the glorious message of Easter resurrection!"

"Clip this story to remind you of times and days so that you won't forget. We hope you will be blessed by worship with us." The youth will serve Easter breakfast after the Sunrise Service in Luther Hall.
